

TOO MANY COOKS

NEW SERIES WHERE COOKING
COUPLES COMPETE FOR CASH!

In this new and fast-paced funny food format, three keen-as-mustard cooking couples are competing against each other to lay on the best spread for some very demanding party hosts. Each day of the week they must prepare in advance before finishing their catering at the party venue and serving up to the picky guests.

At the end of the party the host takes soundings from all their guests and decides which food they would pay the most for. At the end of the week – after they've catered for five very different parties – the winners will walk away with all the cash they've earned.

From birthday bashes and hectic housewarmings to romantic engagement dinners and exotic bon voyage farewell parties, our highly competitive amateur cooking couples have to dig deep and cater at a scale and to culinary standards they've never attempted before.
