MIX TAPE

Daniel was the first boy to make Alison a mix tape. That was twenty years ago and Alison hasn't thought about him in a very long time. Even if she had, she might not have called him 'the one that got away' – after all, she'd been the one who ran. Decades later, Daniel follows her on Twitter, with a link to a song from their shared past. For two blissful minutes, Alison is no longer a wife and mother in Sydney; she is sixteen in Sheffield, dancing in polka-dot leggings. She cannot help but respond in kind. And so begins a new mix tape. Alison and Dan exchange songs – some new, some old – across oceans and time zones, across a lifetime of different experiences. They have spouses and families of their own now, but they're not really breaking any rules, are they? Until one of them does something that will change everything...

Mix Tape is based on the critically acclaimed novel of the same name from former BBC producer, Jane Sanderson

ROBYN HOOD

Robyn Loxley is a woman with a secret. While her activist mother Tressie Loxley works to save their home Sherwood Towers from greedy property developer John Prince, Robyn feigns disinterest while secretly recording underground videos with her friends – Much and Alan Dale – who form the masked band known as The Hood.

But Robyn's life changes forever when John Prince, angered by Tressie's latest protest, enlists the ice-cold Sheriff of New Nottingham to arrest Tressie – an operation that ends in tragedy and changes Robyn and her mother's lives forever. Despite the help of Marian, Tressie's pro-bono lawyer, Robyn and her sister, Jill Scarlett, are unable to free their mother from the Sheriff's incarceration. Worse, Robyn learns that Prince and the Sheriff plan to murder Tressie to silence her. To keep her family safe from the Sheriff and her community out of Prince's clutches, Robyn and The Hood pledge to rob from the rich and give to the poor as they fight the injustices of New Nottingham.

THE GREEN VEIL

It's 1955 and Gordon Rogers hates himself. He's Latinx trying to pass as white. It's no secret, everyone around him knows it, yet still he tries his hardest to fit in. He's married the perfect red haired woman, adopted a beautiful white daughter, and found himself heading up the most patriotic endeavor the FBI has ever embarked on - Native Assimilation.

On paper - he's a true "American." But why does he still... hate himself?

The Green Veil is a series that deals with oppression in America. On the backside of WW2 the stories of a self-loathing Latinx FBI agent, a female fighter pilot turned housewife and a Native American family are intertwined as they all struggle and cling for survival in a world that's hell bent on suffocating them all.

FEATURE DOCUMENTARY

WAR GAME

A bipartisan group of U.S. defense, intelligence, and elected policymakers spanning five presidential administrations participate in an unscripted role-play exercise in which they confront a political coup backed by rogue members of the U.S. military, in the wake of a contested presidential election.

Award-winning filmmakers Jesse Moss and Tony Gerber seize a unique opportunity to bring audiences tableside to a simulation that dramatically escalates the threat posed by January 6, 2021. With the grip of a thriller, War Game posits active-duty military breaking ranks to join an insurrection that soon spreads to other state capitals, yielding a chilling moment when it's unclear whether the president fully commands the armed forces. The simulation's outcome hinges on several inflection points, from the government's capacity to counter the disinformation that's effectively spread by the insurgent side to the potential invocation of the Insurrection Act (i.e., the last resort). While the exercise served to stress test our institutions, the film is a critical wake-up call, underscoring the urgent need for bipartisanship in safeguarding American democracy.

CANNES UNCUT

"The story of Cannes, is the story of cinema." - Thierry Frémaux
- Cannes Film Festival delegate general

Following its launch in 1946, the Cannes Film Festival established itself as the world's pre-eminent film festival and defines sophisticated film glamour. Over nearly eight decades this festival has morphed into an event where the business of buying, selling and marketing films sits alongside festival glamour and high art. Cannes Uncut gives an insiders look into the red carpets, movies, craziness, stunts, deals, parties and personalities that sees the business of show business implant itself for two weeks every year on the French Riviera

Cannes Uncut goes behind the scenes to reveal insight from the head of the festival, Thierry Frémaux; Cannes regulars Tilda Swinton, Juliette Binoche and Léa Seydoux; filmmakers such as Oliver Stone, Lynne Ramsay, Mike Leigh, Quentin Tarantino, Sean Baker, Ken Loach and Wim Wenders; and a cast and crew including producers, journalists, photographers, executives, festival programmers, fashion designers, party organisers and hotel managers together with Tom Cruise, Julia Roberts, Spike Lee, Sylvester Stallone, Brad Pitt and Leonardo Di Caprio.

MERCHANTS OF JOY

Every year, like clockwork, hundreds of thousands of Christmas trees appear seemingly overnight on New York City's streets. There's an entire hidden universe of "tree people" set up to dole out holiday magic. They call themselves The Merchants of Joy. Here comes a delightfully festive feature documentary following five NYC Christmas tree dynasties over one rollercoaster year. Both holiday die-hards and street corner capitalists, they live and breathe their work: sourcing, bargaining, and hustling to sell as many trees as they can in the city that never sleeps. Colorful and absurd, hilarious and heartwarming, this character-driven portrait is both a twisty-turny workplace drama about a dysfunctional Christmas "family" — and a loving ode to the most celebrated holiday in the world.

NO WAY TO SAY GOODBYE: THE LIFE AND MUSIC OF LEONARD COHEN

Leonard Cohen is one of the greatest songwriters of all time. No Way To Say Goodbye offers us a profound insight into the life of Leonard Cohen and why he is an incredibly revered songwriter. A year to the day after his passing, some of the world's most beloved performers gathered in his hometown Montreal to pay tribute to their hero. Backed by a full orchestra, Leonard's band, and a star-studded line-up including Sting, Elvis Costello, k.d. lang, Lana del Rey, The Lumineers, Damien Rice, Patrick Watson, Adam Cohen, and Courtney Love, performed some of Leonard's most exalted songs to a spellbound audience. The film includes rare footage of Leonard himself talking -- candidly, eloquently, and wittily, as always -- about his literary, musical, and spiritual experience, culminating in his phenomenal return to the stage at the end of his life. Commentary by both Adam Cohen and Lorca Cohen enhance our understanding of Leonard as a person, and the presence of Bruce Springsteen, Willie Nelson, Peter Gabriel, Chris Martin, and Celine Dion deepens our appreciation of his huge influence on the history of music.

MEETING ZELENSKY

Until 2019, he was an entertainment super-star and mega successful businessman. Then in a remarkable move, Volodymyr Zelenskyy turned his attention to politics at a time when corruption and economic struggle at home were rife, and the shadow of a sword-rattling neighbour was falling increasingly heavily over Eastern Ukraine. Following a landslide election victory, he found himself Ukraine's President, and soon after that the Russian threat exploded into a full-scale invasion. Putin expected a quick and easy victory but he miscalculated - the comedy President turned out to be a skilled and determined adversary. Suddenly, the world wanted to know more about this enigmatic man. This film answers those questions - unearthing his story from childhood under USSR domination to the heady days of show business stardom, always surrounded and supported by devoted friends, family and colleagues. Through an extended and personal in depth interview with actor-filmmaker Liev Schreiber we gain new insights into one of the most extraordinary characters of our age.

BANKSY DOES NEW YORK

In this feature documentary acclaimed director, Chris Moukarbel (HBO's Me at the Zoo, SEX//NOW) celebrates the renowned street artist Banksy and his self-proclaimed month long October 2013 citywide residency in New York City.

Banksy is revered and reviled, considered both a vandal and a genius. Completely anonymous, he is nevertheless without question one of the world's best known living artists; having left his unmistakable mark and social messages everywhere from Los Angeles street corners to the walls of the Tate. This documentary is an exhilarating survey and detailed documentation of Banksy's city-wide exhibit and at the same time a vibrant portrait of the city itself.

YEAR OF THE FOX

Award-winning New Zealand novel The Year of the Fox by first time 'chick-lit with grit' author Merren Tait

Year of the Fox is a captivating half-hour drama comedy series that follows the journey of Mere, a vibrant and complex woman who embarks on a transformative adventure back to her ancestral land in rural New Zealand. After setting her ex-boyfriend's car on fire in a moment of heated passion, Mere, now an accidental arsonist, decides to escape the chaos of city life and return home to save herself and her beloved land. As she navigates the challenges of saving her land and confronting her past, Mere finds herself in awkward situations with limited options, including dealing with her persistent ex-boyfriend Derek and encountering the charming farmer neighbor, Angus. Mixing conventional narrative drama with magic realism and rough-edged, boundary pushing, hilariously awkward moments shot through with searing emotional truths, this is a rural New Zealand Indigenous Fleabag exploring lust, loss, self-loathing and sex in farm vehicles.

TOP OF THE ROCK

During the Cold War, the intense geopolitical tensions between the United States and NATO allies on one side, and the Soviet Union and Warsaw Pact nations on the other, led to the constant threat of nuclear conflict in the Northern Hemisphere. The establishment of the NASKEF base in Iceland served as a deterrent against potential Soviet aggression, highlighting the high stakes of this era. Top Of The Rock is set in 1982 against the backdrop of escalating opposition to the NASKEF base, as the fragile relationship between the superpowers teeters on the brink of collapse.

When a body in military fatigues is discovered floating in the harbor near the base, military police officer Althea Goodman (30s) is tasked with investigating whether the deceased was an enlisted soldier. She is joined by Icelandic police detective Jonas (30), who serves as her translator.

As Goodman and Jonas delve into the investigation, they must navigate a treacherous path filled with betrayal and cover-ups in order to uncover the truth.
