

MASTER OF GLASS: THE ART OF DALE CHIHULY

PRODUCT INFORMATION

Smithsonian Channel • Documentary • 60 Mins

Premiere Date: December 11, 2022

Master Of Glass: The Art Of Dale Chihuly takes a deeper dive into the people, places and things that Chihuly has collected in his life; revealing a man whose keen eye for beauty and connection will leave behind an enduring legacy

Artist Dale Chihuly is widely known as the enigmatic figure behind impressive glass sculptures that are both well-integrated yet strikingly imposing as they float through Finland's rivers, crowd the narrow canals of Venice, blossom across the ceiling of the Bellagio in Las Vegas, Nevada, and grace the galleries of major museums across the country and across the world. However, these achievements cannot capture the full impact of the profound heart and mind of the man behind the glass. Both complex and compassionate, Chihuly is a beloved father, a supportive friend, a dedicated partner, and a man who has transcended his bipolar diagnosis and great personal tragedy.
