Buckle up for the ultimate holiday destination...true love

It's a high-flying battle of wills between an airplane pilot and the number-crunching CEO who just bought her family's airline. His cost-cutting plans threaten to cancel the airline's annual Christmas benefit for underserved children, unless she can rally the community to save the event. But just as she's trying to win the magnate over, she's amazed to discover he's winning her heart.
