

ATOMIC AGE DECLASSIFIED

SERIES INFORMATION

Smithsonian Channel • Docuseries • 60 Mins

Limited Series: (3 eps)

2018-2019

ATOMIC AGE DECLASSIFIED explores the hidden truths of the atomic era, shedding light on the years of America's history that were shrouded in secrecy and deception.

This three-part series takes us back to the Atomic Age of the mid-20th century, a time when there was excitement about the potential of nuclear planes, trains and automobiles and private programs were on a mission to identify the endless possibilities of atoms as an energy source. But recently declassified materials show that America's atomic dreams had a dark side, with paranoia and secrecy leading to many near-disasters and raising the question, "How far was America willing to go?" in the volatile atomic race.

Smithsonian Channel
Credits not final and subject to change.

EXECUTIVE PRODUCERS

John Cavanagh and David Royle

PRODUCERS

Ed Fields and Tim Dilworth

VERSION 061422