

SHOWTIME® DOCUMENTARY FILMS PRESENTS
A SACHA JENKINS JAMMIE

SERIES INFORMATION
SHOWTIME • Docuseries • 60 Mins
(4 eps)
Premiere Date: February 11, 2022

Directed by Emmy®-nominated filmmaker Sacha Jenkins, the provocative documentary series explores the history of race from the perspective of people of color

From the ever-shifting classifications of racial identity to the generational effects of racism on housing, education and healthcare, to the singular fight of Indigenous populations to reclaim their land from constant encroachment, EVERYTHING'S GONNA BE ALL WHITE delves deeply into the root causes of racial inequities in this country.

Featuring insights from noted historians, cultural commentators, actors, activists and artists – dissecting the many causal effects of race-based decisions and policies on people of color.
