Oscar®, Emmy® and Tony Award® winner Viola Davis executive produces and stars in this revelatory reframing of American leadership, told through the lens of the women at the heart of the White House

America's most decisive and complex First Ladies regularly charted the course of history, but their input has too often been unheralded and hidden from view in the East Wing of the White House. This series lifts that veil and reveals the personal and political lives of three of these fascinating and charismatic women, focusing on Michelle Obama, Betty Ford and Eleanor Roosevelt, illuminating their journeys to and through the circles of power in our nation's capital.
